

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: June 15, 2025

University Galleries of Illinois State University is pleased to present
Jen Bervin: Shift Rotate Reflect from August 15 through December 10, 2025.

Shift Rotate Reflect is a re-imagining of poet and artist Jen Bervin's first survey exhibition. Originally on view at University Galleries in Fall 2020 during COVID-19 restrictions and closures, the exhibition featured 23 solo and collaborative works created from 1997 through 2020. Opening five years after the first exhibition, this experiment—re-presenting the anchor projects differently alongside new works—is a direct response to the limitations imposed by the pandemic. Audiences will be able to engage with the material complexities of Bervin's work, explore the expanded connections among them, and participate in robust public programming.

The exhibition title, Shift Rotate Reflect, was excerpted from Su Hui's Picture of the Turning Sphere, a five-channel video installation that Bervin collaboratively created with filmmaker Charlotte Lagarde. The words "shift," "rotate," and "reflect" have been guideposts for Bervin and exhibition curator Kendra Paitz while envisioning the 2025 exhibition. This iteration of Shift Rotate Reflect features installations, embroideries, prints, artist's books, and videos created through 2025. The selected works demonstrate the interdisciplinary range of Bervin's long-term research on topics including legacies of women artists and writers, relationships between text and textiles, and abstractions of language and landscape.

Core projects from the first exhibition include Su Hui's Picture of the Turning Sphere (2016–2020), a video and textile installation addressing Chinese poet Su Hui and her 4th-century reversible poem, "Xuanji tu"; River (2006–2018), a scale model of the Mississippi River from the geocentric point of view, hand-stitched in silver sequins and spanning 230 curvilinear feet; Silk Poems (2010–2017), which centers around Bervin's poem for a biosensor written from the perspective of a silkworm and composed in a six-character chain corresponding to the DNA structure of silk; and The Dickinson Composites (2004–ongoing), a series of large-scale embroideries comprising stitched composites of the variant marks American poet Emily Dickinson used in her manuscripts to link alternate words and phrases.

New works featured in Shift Rotate Reflect include eight new quilts in The Dickinson Composites series, a 10-foot silk print of the silkworm cocoon, the video Faire et défaire with an original score by Catherine McRae, and two recent artist's books The Sea and On Weaving—a video, typed prints, and an annotated copy of Anni Albers' 1965 book of the same name—which, in Bervin's words, "references the grid that the typewriter and weaving have in common, as well as the direct relationship between looms and computing."

This exhibition is the center point of multiple programs and engagements. Jen Bervin will give a public lecture and meet with students on campus. Bervin's exhibition is a central focus of a Text and Textile seminar in the Wonsook Kim School of Art. Normal Community High School's Experimental Ensemble is composing original scores inspired by Bervin's work and performing them within the exhibition. University Galleries is collaborating with Illinois State University's Milner Library on a reading list and book display and partnering with Bloomington Public Library on a poetry workshop that will result in a zine. University Galleries' staff is also leading art-making workshops for ISU students, K-12 students, and community members, as well as organizing pop-up exhibitions. Sensory-friendly times, independent drawing hours, drop-in writing hours, and scavenger hunts are available. Curator-led tours are available by appointment. Field trip reimbursements for tours and workshops are available for K-12 schools and community organizations.

A 192-page monograph accompanies the exhibition. Published in 2022, between both exhibitions, the book features poet and playwright Claudia Rankine's conversation with Bervin, Jennifer Yee's interview with Bervin and Lagarde, essays by scholar Jayme Collins and curator Kendra Paitz, a facsimile chapter from Bervin's hand-stitched artist's book The Desert, a visual index of Bervin's book projects, and an illustrated biography.

Jen Bervin: Shift Rotate Reflect is curated by Kendra Paitz, University Galleries' director and chief curator. This exhibition and programming are supported by University Galleries' grants from the Illinois Arts Council and the Alice and Fannie Fell Trust. Workshops and field trip reimbursements are supported by the Lori Baum and Aaron Henkelman University Galleries Community Fund. This exhibition would not have been possible without previous support. The 2020 iteration of Shift Rotate Reflect was supported by University Galleries' grants from the National Endowment for the Arts, The Andy Warhol Foundation for the Visual Arts, Illinois Arts Council, Harold K. Sage Foundation, and the Illinois State University Foundation Fund.
